DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 02/26/04 has been entered.

Double Patenting

2. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 1-4 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-16 of U.S. Patent No. 6,479,579 B1. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the process for producing a polyolefin-based resin composition which basically involves melt-kneading 100 parts by weight of a polyolefin-based resin and not less than 0.05 parts by weight and less than 2 parts by weight of polymer fine particles containing 0.10 to 90 % by weight of a volatile component wherein said polymer fine particles are made of polymer obtained by polymerizing at least one monomer selected from the group consisting of styrene, methyl acrylate, methyl methacrylate, 2-ethylhexyl acrylate and 2-ethylhexyl methacrylate and wherein the volatile component is selected from the group consisting of saturated hydrocarbons, ketones, aldehydes, ethers, mixtures thereof, water and mixtures of water and alcohol per the instantly claimed invention differs basically from the claims of U. S. '579, drawn to a process for producing an anti-blocking agent master batch, which comprises melt-kneading 100 parts by weight of a polyolefin-based resin and 2 to 100 parts by weight of polymer fine particles containing 0.38 to 20 % by weight of a volatile component wherein, the volatile component is water, in the polymer fine particles content. However, the instant claims would have been prima facie obvious over the claims of U.S.'579 in view of the close proximity between the polymer fine particles recited in the instant claims (less than 2 parts by weight) and the polymer fine particles content per the claims of U.S.'579 (2 parts by weight) and the expectation that the resulting compositions would have substantially the same properties. As to the "polymer fine particles" of U.S. '579, in terms of specifics, such is generic to the polymer fine particle of the instant claims and necessarily implies that any species, including the claimed species, would have been operable within the scope of the claimed invention and with a reasonable expectation of success.

Response to Arguments

3. Applicant's arguments, see the REMARKS, filed 02/26/04, with respect to the rejection(s) of claim(s) 1-4 under 35 USC 102(b or e) over Otawa et al or Yamazaki et al have been fully considered and are persuasive. Therefore, the rejection has been withdrawn. However, upon further consideration, a new ground(s) of rejection is made in view of the newly discovered prior art.
